WALT: retell a narrative.

This week in English,
you are going to
become an amazing
story writer.

You are going to write
the story of The Egg,
but don't worry, you will write a part of the story
each day.

Today, you are going to introduce the main character, George. We call this the Who? part of our story.

Who?

- Kind, caring and thoughtful
- Soft, ginger hair
- Jumper as stripy as a zebra
- Loves reading

Look back at your plan from last Friday for some ideas. You need to turn your ideas into sentences.

Read the WAGOLL on the next slide to see how you can do this.

George was a young boy who always had his nose in a book. He loved reading and finding out new things about the world. Although he was only 6 years old, he was a kind and caring boy. He spent most of his time in his bedroom, quietly researching his favourite topics with his small, round glasses perched on the end of his nose. His mother thought he was as clever as an owl.

Writing checklist...

To be a superstar writer, you need to include:

- Capital letters and full stops to mark your sentences
- Adjectives to describe
- Similes to describe
- Adverbs - ly words from our phonics last week
- Conjunctions - and, but, so, because, if, when, while, until

Your next paragraph is Where?
Think about where George was at the beginning of the story.

WALT: retell a narrative.

Where?

- Chicken hut/coop/house
- Wooden, battered
- Fresh, dry hay
- Chickens clucking happily

Look back at your plan from last Friday for some ideas. You need to turn your ideas into sentences.

Read the WAGOLL on the next slide to see how you can do this.

Every morning, when the bright sun rose in the blue sky, George would go down to his mother's old wooden chicken coop to collect delicious, fresh eggs for breakfast. He loved to hear the chickens clucking happily and the quiet, chirruping of their newly hatched chicks. It was often a bit smelly but usually he didn't mind. He would check the chickens carefully every day and make sure that they had clean, dry hay to lay their eggs on.
